I would like to acknowledge and appreciate your sincere efforts in sharing the necessary instructional materials with the students, and conducting online end semester tests for the final year students. The MHRD and UGC have been emphasizing on the inevitability of teaching faculty utilising the lockdown period productively, engaging in online teaching and preparation of online teaching material.

In this regard, I invite the teaching faculty to offer one or two online courses for enabling the student community broaden its horizon of learning. These courses can be offered to the students of your department or other departments as extra-credit courses. Staff members who would like to offer online courses are requested to register their names and course details with Mr. Venkatesan, PA to Principal. I would like to appreciate the professors who have already come forward to conduct online courses to our students.

Wishing you a safe and academically productive stay at home!
