

Dr. R. Ramachandran

Short CV:

- Dr. R. Ramachandran received his master's degree in Nanoscience and nanotechnology from Bharathiyar University, India, and received his Ph.D. from VIT University, India.
- Currently, he is a Research Assistant Professor in SUSTech Academy for Advanced Interdisciplinary Studies, Southern University of Science and Technology, Shenzhen, China.
- His research interests include Metal-organic frameworks, Metal-phthalocyanines, and 2D materials for electrochemical energy storage, conversion, and sensor applications.
- He has authored more than 40 papers published in international journals and has published five book chapters.
- He had received the International young scientist research fund from the National Natural Science Foundation (NSFC) of China in 2020.